Either Or: A Fragment of Life by Søren Kierkegaard

Either or is discredited by its principle reliance on the necessity to choose between an aesthetic or ethical life. Kierkegaard makes the point that we have to choose between these if we want to have purpose to life because of the inherent contradiction between the two.

Either Or: A Fragment of Life Søren Kierkegaard “Idleness ... is a truly divine life, if one is not bored... It may be said that everyone who lacks a sense for it thereby shows that he has not raised himself to the human level.”

Either Or

Either Or portrays two life views. Each life view is written and represented by a fictional pseudonymous author, with the prose of the work reflecting and depending on the life view being discussed.
